

Beyond Wristbands

Tackling Today's Pressing Inventory Challenges

Explore Zebra's Hospital Vision Study, uncovering the hidden challenges of materials management and showcasing the transformative benefits of digital solutions on supply operations and patient safety.

Top Five Barriers Impacting Inventory Management

(According to Decision-Makers)

1. Outdated Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) System
2. Lack of Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) with Suppliers
3. Disparate systems to manage various types of assets and supplies
4. Maintaining manual spreadsheets
5. Lack of integration between offsite storage/warehousing facilities and main hospital(s)

Inventory Hide and Seek

77%

of decision-makers agree clinical staff at their organization spend too much time locating the medical equipment, materials, and/or supplies when needed

Tech Evolution: Navigating the Digital Shift in Materials Management

Percentage of Decision-Makers Report their Organization is:

72%

Under pressure to update and digitize inventory management and tracking systems

76%

Finding it challenging to integrate devices, sensors, and technology to manage resources throughout facilities

84%

Prioritizing the integration of automated and digitized systems for tracking anything administered or used with patients at the point-of-care

Uniting Tech and Care in Inventory Overhaul

84%

of decision-makers recognize their role and responsibility for tracking and managing hospital inventory directly impacts patient safety

To view the Hospital Vision Study series, visit zebra.com/hospital-materials-mgmt-vision-study

Discover how Zebra can help transform your hospital's materials management processes to help drive greater clinical efficiencies and safer patient care. Visit zebra.com/healthcare